Medical Confirmation

Haochen Zhou has informed our medical team that he has been experiencing a decline in his mental health since 25/05/2026, with symptoms of severe anxiety and stress. He reports the onset of recurrent tics and involuntary movements, including head jerking and eye twitching, which have caused him significant distress and affected his day-to-day functioning. As a result of these symptoms, Haochen has found it difficult to fulfil the educational requirements associated with his studies.

Haochen has been advised to update his regular GP so as to get additional medical support and we kindly request that you take his medical symptoms and current health into consideration.

Kind Regards
